

Caves During the Ice Age

During the Ice Age caves were made but when it ended, the caves were folded by some salt and fresh water, most of them were in the Bahamas! The caves were filled with Glimmering rock formations witch reminds me of dripstone (Minecraft).

There are lines, called Haloclines, that separate salt from fresh water in an almost magical way. There is still a lot we don't know, what are the rock formations really about?

But is cool that we know about it!